AREA OF EXPERTISE

Andrew joined the Chicago office of Colliers International in 2012 where he works with a unique team of brokers, analysts and client coordinators focused solely on delivering creative solutions to complex real estate challenges for occupiers based both in Chicago and nationally. He focuses on transactions and relationship management for corporate relationships. His projects include a 95,000 square-foot corporate headquarters redevelopment, relocation of a 100,000 square-foot enterprise-critical contact center and a restructure of a 130,000 square foot lease for both office and industrial occupiers.

He remained involved throughout the entire transaction, from strategic planning and site selection/space design through to lease negotiations and relocation management. Andrew is very active in Capital Markets-based analysis and research, identifying opportunities for below-market pricing in facilities that support his clients' business objectives.

BUSINESS AND EDUCATIONAL BACKGROUND

Prior to joining Colliers, Andrew spent over five years at DTZ/C&W where he focused on new business development both in Chicago and nationally and servicing existing client relationships.

Andrew attended Indiana University where he majored in Business Finance & Real Estate in the Kelley School of Business. Andy was an Evans Scholar at Indiana.
