AREA OF EXPERTISE

Brad Cooke is an executive vice president with Colliers and senior member of the Cooke Multifamily Team, one of the top full-service multifamily investment teams in the nation, serving clients across multiple states and markets.

Multifamily asset types include luxury, core, value add, high-rise, new development, student and workforce housing, and land.

Team members include Cindy Cooke, Chris Roach, Matt Roach, Teresa Lowery, Ron Cameron, Thomas Brophy, Eric Blair, Nicholas Solo, Aimee DeYoung, Alice Bean and Kellyanne Kennedy.

Working closely with clients, Brad helps determine and refine their objectives and guides them in successfully buying or selling a property or portfolio, while also growing their business. He provides critical market data and analysis to enable clients to quickly capitalize on emerging opportunities and realize optimal property value.

Brad has established lasting business relationships for the team with leading local, national and international companies through a dedicated and personal approach that ensures client expectations are not only met, but surpassed. He is involved at every stage of the transaction and oversees underwriting and due diligence to facilitate a smooth and timely closing process.

Brad's ability to strategize, coupled with extensive industry knowledge, produces exceptional results for clients, as evidenced by the team's 100% closing ratio and high degree of repeat business and referrals.
