CURRENT RESPONSIBILITIES

As a market leading commercial real estate advisor, Robyn partners with occupiers of industrial/flex space in the Central Florida region to integrate subject matter expertise, market knowledge, and consulting efforts into the real estate process. Drawing from my diverse background in the commercial real estate industry, her active involvement in the Central Florida brokerage community ensures continual awareness of current market trends to ensure a comprehensive and informed decision is made when securing a client's commercial real estate space. In addition, Robyn handles the leasing efforts for over 1.5M square feet of Tampa Bay industrial/flex product with a tenant count in excess of 200 users.

EXPERIENCE

Transitioning from JLL to Colliers in 2018, Robyn has been an integral part of the growth of the Colliers International Central Florida Industrial Team. The Vaught/Hurrell Industrial team is a diverse and collaborate group that strives to deliver creative strategies for both industrial/flex tenants and landlords. The team is uniquely positioned to help achieve clients' short and long-term ambitions by evaluating market activity against a long history of experience, discussing economic and industry trends on both local and global scale, and ensuring a diverse perspective is present at the strategy table.

Prior to joining JLL, Robyn provided financial and analytical expertise to the capital markets and corporate services teams of Cushman & Wakefield (formerly DTZ) in Tampa.

EDUCATIONAL BACKGROUND

Robyn earned a Bachelor of Science in Accounting from the Sykes College of Business at The University of Tampa (UT). Additionally, Robyn earned her MCR designation (Masters in Corporate Real Estate) through CoreNet Global in 2017, graduating the program as the youngest MCR professional in CoreNet Global history.
